PREFACE

In 1931, the San Francisco Special Libraries Association issued a preliminary list of the periodicals available in twenty special libraries. The present compilation is a more ambitious venture, since, as its title indicates, it includes serial publications; and, in addition, embraces twice as many libraries, representing resources of the entire Bay Region.

This list is a compilation of the serial publication in forty libraries of the San Francisco Bay Region whose holdings are not contained in the "Union List of Serials of the United States and Canada," edited by Winifred Gregory.

The contributing libraries represent varied types of collections ranging from university, college, and museum to large public and special business libraries.

Scope: We have adopted the following definition of a serial: "a publication not issued by a government agency, appearing at regular or stated intervals of less than a year, and including articles on various subjects." Although this excludes annuals, monographs, government publications, almanacs, etc., we have retained certain titles in these classes because of their intrinsic value.

Form of entry: In general, the form of entry is that established by H. W. Wilson in the "Union List of Serials..." Entries are made under the last title with cross references from previous names. Publications of societies or institutions are entered under the name of the society or institution unless the title of the publication is distinctive.

Symbols: A library's symbol is made up of a combination of letters for State, City, and Library. Numbers following a library's symbol show its holdings as of approximately January, 1937. Volume numbers and dates are inclusive in all cases.

In compiling this final list we have excluded the titles of very incomplete holdings when more complete collections of the same periodical or serial are listed in the "Union List of Serials in Libraries of the United States and Canada" edited by Winifred Gregory, and can be found in neighboring university libraries.

In view of a contemplated union list of government publications of the United States, we have included only such government publications as come under the term "periodical." We are aware that there are many inconsistencies. We have not always been able to procure accurate descriptions or histories and rather than err on the side of elimination and possible loss, we have included many titles that do not fall strictly within the scope of our own definition. We have included as much local material as possible, as we recognized that it would be of particular value to the libraries and business organizations using the list.

The cards from which this selected list was compiled are filed in the periodical department of the San Francisco Public Library. Information from them is available upon request in person or by telephone. This list is completed as of the date July, 1936, with numerous additions up to and including 1937. A standing Union List Committee, with the co-operation of contributing libraries, will keep the card file at the San Francisco Public Library up to date.

The work of collecting and compiling the material and editing this publication has been done in a great part as a Works Progress Administration project under the expert supervision of Miss Helen McCoy, a graduate librarian, and with the co-operation of a Union List Committee of the San Francisco Bay Region Special Libraries Association. The present chairman wishes to express her indebtedness and appreciation to the members of the committee, to Edwin T. Coman, Jr., of the publication committee, to the co-operating libraries, and to the many other volunteers who contributed both time and financial assistance to the undertaking.

Special thanks are due to Mr. Robert Rea, who, as librarian of the San Francisco Public Library, sponsored the project and who has furnished cabinets to house the card file; also to the Zellerbach Paper Company for its generous donation of catalog cards; to the Standard Oil Company of California, and the Shell Development Company, Bank of America, and National Trust & Savings Association for their generous financial assistance which made publication possible; to the Special Libraries Association for a prepublication loan to help in financing, and to the Mechanics Institute Library for the use of a room and equipment.

Anita M. Levy, Chairman
Union List Committee

TARTU
Ülikool
Organized 1919, under the newly established Estonian Republic, upon the foundation of the university which had existed at Dorpat since 1632. The personnel and equipment of the Russian University of Dorpat were removed to Voronezh, Russia, and in 1919 the University of Voronezh was established. Both universities continue the series of "Acta et commentationes Imp. Universitatis jurievensis (olim dorpatensis)" published 1893-1917, the two current series being entitled respectively: Acta et commentationes Universitatis dorpatensis. 1921- [the Estonian university at Dorpat (Tartu)] and Acta Universitatis voronegiensis (olim jurievensis-dorpatensis) 1925- [the Russian university at Voronezh]

VORONEZH
Universitet
In 1918, as a result of territorial changes, the Russian university of Dorpat (Yur'ev) which had been in existence since 1632 was removed to Voronezh, Russia, where it was reestablished in 1919 with its former personnel and equipment. At the same time, the buildings at Dorpat were appropriated for the new Estonian university,
